A common thread in all aspects of the American Justice system is the commitment to Due Diligence. Fines are not levied solely for the purpose of creating court revenue. Defendants are expected to be accountable for their actions.

Many agencies provide effective collections for ‘easy pay’ accounts, few provide Due Diligence. Due Diligence in working skipped accounts, or maintaining contact with uncooperative defendants.

Your court will never recover 100% from every defendant, but, with ACCESS as your courts’ partner, it will never be a result of a lack of effort.
